

Business is Different Today

The challenges of commercial environments are drastically changing. As businesses prepare for the future, vital strategies and services – such as workplace exposure tracing and health and temperature screenings – have become essential. Security needs are changing – let Vunetrix and our WATCH security team help you address them.

Key COVID-19 services we can provide to help you plan and lay the foundation for reopening your business operations.

Call center and hotline:

Available 24/7 for facility employees to report security and COVID-related issues.

Certified exposure tracers & supervisors:

Trained individuals can monitor exposure and support employees at work.

Documentation of tracing activities:

Leadership reports offer full transparency on internal operations by logging employee activity within the workplace, thus helping to mitigate risk.

Real-time escalation of critical events:

Any incidents or events deemed critical and requiring immediate action can be reported to appropriate supervisors and leadership.

Weekly metric reporting and briefing:

Provided by Vunetrix WATCH team to organization's COVID-19 response team.

Back-end tools designed for incident tracking and reporting:

By leveraging advanced, compliant technology platforms, we can report accurate metrics in real-time.

On-site deployment of health and temperature screening technology:

We will help your organization develop protocols and select technologies for entrance controls & screenings.

Integration of exposure tracing software with existing systems:

May include access control and any other critical security system.

Mass communications :

We will provide real-time alerts of critical situations to employees and all relevant parties through implementation of mass notification systems.

Global COVID-19 report:

Daily email summary report to include updates on current mandates and other relevant information.